DOUBTS NEED FOR WATER RATE HIKE

Operators Confer On Coal Plan

Lewis Demands Three-Day Week

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— A big bloc of northern and western coal operators met behind closed doors today to debate John L. Lewis' new share-the-work program.

Their answer—which may be given the United Mine Workers' president tomorrow when contract sessions resume at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., may determine whether the nation's 400,000 soft coal diggers stop work again July 6.

An operators' spokesman said any reaction to the Lewis proposal would probably be kept a close secret until the operators' negotiators gather around the conference table with Lewis.

Lewis has put this proposal before them:

He will change the "no contract, no work" policy of the United Mine Workers and keep the miners in the pits after the present contract expires, provided—

The industry goes on a uniform three-day work week during negotiations for a new pact.

The alternative is a shutdown of all bituminous mines. The UMW leader made that proposal to northern and western operators at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he and the management officials have been talking contract terms.

The meeting was recessed so the operators could sound one sentiment at home. Several conferences were arranged. The big one was called here by George H. Love, youthful president of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company, the world's largest commercial soft coal producer.

Lewis presumably wants his answer tomorrow afternoon.

Sources close to the industry indicate the key decision probably will be made at Love's conference today.

The soft coal contract expires Thursday at midnight. However, the miners are on a 10-day vacation that does not expire until July 5.

Lewis has said time and time again that he wants to stabilize conditions in the coal industry.

Such a three-day week would be a step toward guaranteed employment for workers in the soft coal mines.

Spain, China Loans Urged

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Pat McCarran, (D. Nev.) today urged Senate approval of a plan to give Franco Spain and Nationalist China $150,000,000 to fight communism.

McCarran is chairman of the joint congressional "watchdog" committee on foreign aid as well as a high-ranking member of the Senate appropriations committee.

He said he would ask the appropriations group to include in the European Recovery program $100,000,000 for civilian assistance to the Nationalist government in China and $50,000,000 for Spain.

These nations, he said, are "two of the strongest bulwarks against world communism." McCarran has long been an advocate of closer relations with the Franco regime.

Mother Saves 3 Children

BUCYRUS — A mother saved her three sleeping children from a Crawford county farm house this morning before flames leveled the structure. Fire destroyed the home of Weldon Gould. It was located six miles southwest of here near the Mt. Zion school.

Sheriff deputies reported Mrs. Gould had been heating water on a kerosene stove when the kerosene spilled over, starting the fire. The six-room, two story frame building burned to its foundation. A strong wind fanned the flames and no help was summoned, deputies reported.

Mrs. Gould was home with the children. The father was at work as a New York Central railroad employe. The fire started before 7 a. m.

FORMER PREMIER DIES

MADRID, SPAIN — (AP) — Alejandro Lerroux, 85, five times premier of Republican Spain, died early this morning.

RAY LYMAN WILBUR

Stroke Kills Ex-Secretary Of Interior

Lyman Wilbur Dies At Stanford

STANFORD, Cal. — (UP) — Former Secretary of Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur was mourned today by the men who served with him in the government and those who knew him more recently as chancellor of Stanford university.

Wilbur, a physician who earned eminence as an educator and humanitarian, died yesterday of a stroke. He was 79.

Wilbur had been ailing since he was stricken by a heart attack five years ago.

His lifelong friend, former President Herbert Hoover, whom he served as a cabinet member, said Wilbur's death was "a great loss to our country."

"America is a better place for his having lived in it," Hoover said in New York.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at the Stanford Memorial chapel. Interment will be private at Alta Mesa cemetery.

Born at Boonville, Ia., in 1875, Wilbur came to California where he attended school at Riverside. He entered Stanford at 17 and worked his way through as a part-time laboratory employe.

While working in the laboratory, he met another medical student, Marguerite May Blake of San Francisco. They were married in 1898. She died in December, 1946.

Wilbur first met Hoover when the latter knocked on Wilbur's dormitory door soliciting business for a laundry.

Wilbur became dean of Stanford Medical school in 1911 and its president five years later. He held the post until 1943 and left the Campus for extended periods only twice after 1916.

The first time, he went to Washington in 1917 as chief of the conservation division of the United States food administration.

In 1929, he served as Hoover's secretary of the interior for four years.

He also served terms as president of the American Medical association and the American Academy of Medicine.

Ohio Murder Case Opens

ATHENS —(UP)— The second of three men accused of the first degree murder of a middle-aged woman church worker here last Jan. 3, went on trial here today.

Most of today was expected to be taken up in selection of a jury to hear the trial of Harry Dodds jr., 20, of New Straitsville.

Grover E. Rawlins, 18, also of New Straitsville, pleaded guilty to the first degree murder charge June 17 and a special three judge court sentenced him to life imprisonmnt. Rawlins had requested trial by the panel of judges rather than by a jury.

Rawlins, Dodds and James Stewart, a former Columbus bartender, were indicted for the brutal robbery-slaying of Miss Eleanor Gifford, 52, lay worker for the Episcopal church of the Good Shepherd. Stewart has not been apprehended.

Names Grow On Petitions

Confidence that the council-manager plan petitions now in circulation will have served their purpose by July 15, was expressed today by Alvin Preyer, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Council-Manager plan.

Purpose of the petitions is to place the council-manager plan on the ballot at the November general election.

A spot check has disclosed the petitions are getting favorable reception, Preyer said.

Signatures of 10 per cent of the voters who cast ballots at the last general election are necessary to place the issue on the ballot.

The executive committee of the citizens committee will meet at 7:30 p. m. today in the Chamber of Commerce assembly room to discuss the progress of the campaign, Preyer said.

The establishment of a speakers' bureau to further inform Mansfielders about the council-manager plan will also be discussed at tonight's meeting.

A round-up meeting of the membership of the citizens committee is scheduled for July 12, Preyer said.

At that time it will be determined if there are sufficient names on the petitions.

English Visitors Like Mansfield

Letters Unite Friends

The Arthur W. Zerbys, 169 South Home road, have house guests this week — all because of a letter sent to England 11 years ago along with a pump from the Gorman - Rupp company.

Frederick Cowhan of Watford, Hertfordshire, England, read that letter, just as Zerby hoped someone would. Continued correspondence developed into a friendship and a few weeks ago the Cowhans decided they'd pay a visit to the Zerbys. Along with them came three-year-old daughter Marion. A son, Clive, 17, was left behind in England.

The Cowhans always have been eager to see America, and with but few exceptions they find it pretty exciting and to their taste. One of the few dislikes is New York.

"You can have New York," Cowhan said.

Cowhan, who arrived with his family in New York harbor doesn't think New York a fair example of the United States. He prefers the "wide-open spaces, the trees and the beautiful boulevards of Mansfield."

The English visitors are impressed with the "clean, neatness of the homes and the lawns," so different from the crowded living conditions in their native land.

Grocery stores and markets of Mansfield with their unrationed cooking fats and sugar are still a source of wonderment to the Cowhans. The visitors explained that only one and one-half ounces of meat are alloted per person per week in England and that one still must stand in line for a five-cent candy bar.

ALL 'NIGHT OWLS'

Brilliantly illuminated store windows, the numerous and larger autos and the "night owl" practices of Mansfielders are all new to the Cowhans. In England, they explained, lights go off in the stores at 5:30 p. m. and most everyone is in bed by 10 or 10:30 in the evening unless there's a special party.

Cowhan, who is yard and transport manager for Blaw Knox, Limited, believes England's socialistic system is bringing about a nationalization of industry in the Empire. The system, he said, puts a purchase tax on almost all articles. The tax runs from 12½ to 100 per cent of the purchase price, depending upon the article. The only item not taxed is utility clothing of an inferior quality.

England's health bill costs Cowhan $1.22 per week for his family of four. This covers all health needs, and in case of inability to work pays the family $9 a week.

From what the Cowhans have seen of the United States so far, they wish the American movies would depict the "real, down-to-earth friendly people" instead of the "pent house variety."

ENGLISH GUESTS—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cowhan and their daughter, Marion, 3, soon fell in love with Mansfield's people and homes. They are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Zerby, Home road.

Stormy Court Actions Calm Down

Defense Rests Case In Coplon Spy Trial

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Judith Coplon's attorney today rested the defense's case in her spy trial quietly and almost casually in contrast with the stormy proceedings of nine weeks.

Miss Coplon's lawyer ended his case after drawing pretty much of a blank on his final witness, a New York publisher's representative.

The witness was unable to corroborate Miss Coplon's story that she took information from justice department files as material for a book she was writing.

After Archibald Palmer, Miss Coplon's rotund and excitable lawyer, rested the case, the prosecution called Miss Coplon's former boss in the justice department, William E. Foley.

He was called in an attempt to refute her claim that Foley ordered her to take to New York a certain "decoy" paper found in her purse when she was arrested with Valentine A. Gubitchev, Russian engineer, she says was her "kissless" lover.

Miss Coplon, 28-year-old former Department of Justice analyst, is accused of stealing government secrets to relay to Moscow through Gubitchev. She has denied the charges and insisted that her interest in Gubitchev was purely romantic.

But the government says she was keeping hotel trysts with H. P. Shapiro, a Justice Department attorney at the same time she says she was in love with Gubitchev.

Artist's Wife Shoots Self

SOUTH HARPSWELL, ME. — (AP) — A dish washing "spat" between artist Stephen Etnier and his young wife resulted in her death with a bullet lodged near her brain.

Etnier, 45, told police his 24-year-old third wife shot herself at their home here Friday night.

Mrs. Etnier, the former Jane Walden Pierce of Georgetown, O., never regained consciousness. She died last night.

Counterfeit Ring Broken

WASHINGTON —(UP) — The secret service today seized a currency counterfeiting plant next door to the World bank and international monetary fund and arrested four men and one woman.

Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman said the five were members of a ring which had circulated more than $100,000 in counterfeit $20 federal reserve notes.

The plant seizure and arrests came after the arrest in Cleveland over the week-end of a man who allegedly passed counterfeit currency.

Baughman announced that secret service agents had arrested:

Eugene Hammond Creighton, 25; Walter Wilbur Kidwell, 30; William F. Hughes, 28, and his wife, Josephine Hughes, 25, and Arthur M. Beabar, 35. All listed Washington addresses.

Police Raid Gambling Den

VALLEY COTTAGE, N.Y.—(AP) — New York state police raided a Rockland county estate early Sunday and arrested eight men on charges of operating a gambling establishment.

Police said the 150 - year - old Dutch colonial residence had been turned into a swank gambling palace. The 15-room dwelling, an old mill road, occupies a three and one-half acre estate.

Forty patrons were not arrested.

Large Family Would Pay More

Way Opened For Rent Increases

The way was opened today for a number of Mansfield landlords to seek rent increases.

Under a ruling of Rent Director Tighe E. Woods area rent offices can give more weight to applications by landlords for rent boosts if they improve their properties. Rent increases also will be permitted when large families move into vacated homes.

Woods estimated that about a million landlords may ask for rent increases throughout the country because of the new provisions.

Mansfield Housing expediter George H. Blecker said today that he expected many new applications for rent increases.

In issuing the instructions, Woods said they resulted from complaints by both tenants and landlords. The tenants had complained that landlords were letting their property run down, he said. And landlords had complained that they were denied rent boosts to pay for such improvements.

The new instructions, Woods said, should answer both groups.

If landlords spent only $100 per unit in improving their 14,000,000 rental units, Woods said, this would mean an extra $1,400,000,000 to the basic building and construction industry.

"The effect of such spending on the labor and materials market would be terrific," he said.

The tenants, Woods said, probably will not object to slightly higher rents if they are assured their homes will be kept in good shape.

Woods told local rent offices to consider increased costs of fuel, utilities and improvements in deciding rent increase cases.

"They now will take into account such things as the cost of a new roof or the renovation of a bathroom which previously might have been considered only as maintenance of existing facilities rather than an improvement," he said.

Woods also said when a family moves out of a house, the landlord can ask for a rent adjustment for the new tenant based on the number of persons in his family. This would be for "wear and tear" on the property.

It's also obvious," he said, "that the average family of six would use more water, heat and electricity than a family of four and, if the landlord provides utilities, it would increase his operating expense."

Showers Fail To Ease Heat

The hot, muggy weather which made Mansfielders uncomfortable over the week-end will stay at least through Tuesday, the weatherman said today.

Showers last night brought some cooling breezes, but the mercury soon began to climb again.

Families thronged parks and pools and lake resorts yesterday in a mass effort to put off the stickiness of the week-end weather. There were scores of cars parked at the roadside state parks. At Mohican State park there were hundreds of families picnicking, wading in the river, roasting hot dogs and marshmallows.

It was a lot more humid yesterday for the folks in Logansport, Ind., where six inches of rain fell in a few hours.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms mostly in the afternoon and night were predicted for today and Tuesday.

New England is being seared by a serious drought. Temperatures hit new highs for the year in some spots across the nation, including New York.

Danger of drought in Ohio was relieved by rains that fell during the late afternoon and evening.

Yesterday's high temperature was 85 degrees at 2 p. m. with the rainfall for the 24 hours ended at 7:30 a. m. today at .04 of an inch. At 10:30 a. m. today the Civil Aeronautics Administration station at Municipal Airport reported the temperature at 73 degrees.

Officers Seek Mail Looter

$1,000 In Silver Coins Stolen

A reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person responsible for the disappearance of $1,000 in silver coins from the Pennsylvania railroad station at Crestline last week, was offered today by the Post Office department.

U. S. Post office inspectors, who have been pushing an investigation of the mysterious disappearance of the mailbag said the bag disappeared last Thursday from the railroad platform truck at the station.

The shipment of coins, contained in a registered mail sack, was enroute from Cleveland to Montpelier, O. Inspectors said the coins disappeared between 6 and 7:30 p. m. while awaiting transfer to Pennsylvania Train No. 113.

Officials said all possibility of the bag becoming lost has been ruled out, following a thorough check of the route.

Twin Brother Guilty, Says Aged Romeo

CHICAGO — (UP) — Sigmund Engel, fabulous swindler, claimed today that it actually was "my twin brother, who's three years younger than me," who fleeced 50 or more gullible ladies out of $2,000,000.

Engel, on one of the worst spots since he became a notorious international swindler 40-odd years ago, faced arraignment today on charges of fleecing Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39-year-old red-haired Chicago widow, out of $8,700.

But the elderly love racketeer showed no fear.

At a police show-up yesterday, he faced the lights and trod the boards of the detective headquarters stage with the same aplomb he showed in vaudeville at Chicago's Palace theater decades ago.

With the diction of a Barrymore, he boasted of conquests over lovely ladies in Europe, South America and most of the United States.

Then he switched to his other line.

"You know," he said, "it really was my twin brother who did all these things.

"He looks just like me and has almost identical fingerprints. I'm sure you good officers couldn't tell our prints apart. I'm perfectly willing to try to make good on the money he's taken from these ladies."

Council To Study Proposals

Committee Checks Figures

Council is not certain at this time any water rate increase will be necessary in Mansfield, Clifford Knarr, chairman of the council water committee, said today.

Members of the water committee are studying reports prepared by Sanitary Engineer B. V. BeVier on the financial condition of the water department.

Included in the report are several increased rate schedules that would cover an estimated $100,000 annual deficit in the water department.

A meeting will be held with BeVier to study this report further, Knarr said. No date has been set for the meeting.

City officials and members of the Chamber of Commerce water committee discussed the water department's financial trouble at a recent meeting and BeVier was instructed to prepare sets of rates that would increase the department's revenue.

SEE REVENUE BOOST

There was some discussion at the meeting that the increased production of water and its sale, with the completion of the Clear Fork project, might offset the expected loss of the department.

"There will be a long study of the situation before any rates increase is recommended by council," Knarr said.

There is nothing definite about what new rates schedule will be recommended, Knarr said.

"We are not certain at this time any increased rates will be necessary," he said.

The water department revenue in the coming years must be sufficient to pay off the $2,450,000 Clear Fork project, and support a larger water department, city officials said.

Fourth Wage Hike Sought

DETROIT —(UP)— Fourth round wage increase demands were to be handed to the Ford Motor company today by the CIO United Auto workers in speeded up contract negotiations.

President Walter P. Reuther is asking boosts to match the increased cost of living since the end of OPA. The average Ford worker now makes $1.69 an hour.

The wage demands were to be presented to Ford negotiators as bargaining talks shifted to the UAW's request for $100-a-month pensions for aged workers. The UAW also wants a health and social security program written into its 1949 contract.

Daily bargaining talks started today with the contract expiration date less than three weeks off. Top level union officials met yesterday, presumably to put finishing touches on their wage demands.

The UAW was faced with carrying on simultaneous negotiations with Ford and Chrysler corporations. Its contract with the other "big three" member, General Motors, does not come up until next year.

Belgian Vote Rebuffs King

BRUSSELS — (INS) — King Leopold III of Belgium was apparently rebuffed by his nation on the basis of incomplete election returns today in which Belgian women voted for the first time.

With 1,500,000 votes out of an estimated 5,000,000 counted, the anti - Leopold Social Democrats held 42 per cent of the vote while the pro-Leopold Christian Socialists (Catholics) had 30 per cent.

Of the other two major parties, both opposed to Leopold's return to the throne, the Liberals had seventeen percent of the recorded vote and the communists three percent. Minor parties have the remaining vote.

BUENOS AIRES —(AP)—Britain and Argentina signed a five-year trade agreement today, thus ignoring United States objections to the pact.

The signing was done in the presence of President Juan D. Peron, his wife and a group of high officials in the white salon of Government house.

Predicts Blood On the Caribbean Moon As Latins Plan New Wars

COSTA RICA'S ambassador to the U. S. (Mario Esquivel) deposited the instrument of ratification of his country's friendship pact with Nicaragua with the Organization of American States last Saturday. . . . Ordinarily this routine diplomatic action would not merit much public attention.

But the fact is that the ambassador took this step in the face of the almost certain outbreak of a shooting war, which would engulf Central America from the Mexican border to the now virtually unguarded and defenseless Panama Canal.

Last week it was reported that a revolution was about to break in Nicaragua . . . But Dictator Somoza of Nicaragua is not asleep at his post. In order to protect his threatened regime, he is planning to launch another invasion of Costa Rica . . . This country still has more school teachers than soldiers and it has no regular army.

It's an old trick that the Assassin of Managua has borrowed from history.

It was the method used by the English kings, the Edwards, the Richards and Henrys, to solve their more serious domestic crises. They distracted the attention of their complaining subjects by declaring war on France.

During the past few weeks, Somoza has been waging a cold war against Costa Rica. He has charged that a revolutionary movement against him is being armed in Costa Rica and he has asserted that Nicaraguans are being killed like dogs on the streets of this neighboring republic.

A statement which recalls Hitler's prelude to the rape of Austria, Poland and Czechoslovakia, themselves preludes to World War II.

Some days ago Dictator Somoza announced the seizure of a Cuban military plane. It landed without authority in Nicaraguan territory . . . He charged that this plane had been engaged in activities connected with the revolutionary plot against him.

The announcement from his capital said the officers in the plane (all of them members of the Cuban armed forces) had said that they landed "because of gasoline shortage" . . . Actually 420 gallons of fuel (enough for 5 hours' flight) were found in the tanks.

The truth is that the plane was forced down by Nicaraguan fighters because Somoza, knowing that Cuba, Costa Rica and Guatemala are full-fledged allies, suspected it was being used by his enemies.

The plane (a DC-3), normally used as the transport aircraft of General Damera (Chief of Staff of the Cuban Army), is being held by Somoza . . . The officers who formed its crew are his prisoners . . . Actually the plane was on its way to Costa Rica to bring a very distinguished Cuban lady back to Havana for an urgent operation Her family is closely connected with the Cuban Govt.

When Somoza strikes (and it is expected very soon) he will have the support of Panama . . . Somoza will use Dr. Calderon Guardia, deposed President of the former Communist-dominated gov't of Costa Rica, as the front for his attack . . . But the real fighting forces will be the Nicaraguan Guardia Nacional.

Simultaneously, another group fronted by Costa Ricans (of the Old Regime) will move across the Costa Rican border from Panama . . . And the third striking force, headed by the Communist leader, Manuel Mora, and the Spanish renegade, Julio Lopez Macegosa, will come down the coast from Mexico . . . Blood on the Caribe Moon!

Colonel Playing With Maps Sees Way To Halt Reds At the Rhine

I KNOW AN OLD SOLDIER, retired one world war and three international riots ago, who spends his time refighting his campaigns and keeping the mice away from his medals.

The old boy knows his trade well and loves to work out small problems like the probable daily average hay intake of Hannibal's elephants in crossing the Alps.

I called on him the other day and found him fuming—as usual—over three big maps hung on his library walls. The maps were decorated with little flags, squares and triangles — the hieroglyphics of the military. And the old boy, wearing his old-fashioned high cavalry boots, was striding up and down before them like Napoleon the day before Waterloo.

"What's up now, Colonel?" I asked cheerfully. "Planning a motor trip to Long Island?"

The colonel gave me his customary glare and chomped in half a stray hair from his 1890 moustache.

"In the first map I have corrected the errors made by Grant at the siege of Vicksburg," he snapped. "The second map shows my plan for seizing New York City, and--"

"What do you want to take New York for, Colonel—restore the five-cent subway fare?" I interrupted.

"I wouldn't take the place as a gift on a pewter platter," sniffed the colonel. "It's just a military exercise for me. I also have worked out plans to storm Moscow, Minsk and Pinsk, envelop the north and south poles and outflank Addis Ababa."

"Sounds like a busy afternoon. How big a force would you need to capture New York?"

"After I threw three artillery shells into Times Square," puffed the colonel, pausing to pour himself three fingers of bourbon, "I figure I could take it with a troop of spavined horse cavalry armed with sabers. The population already would have trampled itself to death trying to escape to New Jersey."

"Granted. Now what's the third map show--one of von Clausewitzs campaigns?"

"Haven't I ordered you never to mention the name of that Prussian illiterate in my headquarters?" the colonel snorted. "No. the third map illustrates how we could stop the Russians at the Rhine--if we have another war--by using the atom bomb."

"But the atom bomb is a strategic weapon not a tactical one," I protested. "It's for knocking out enemy cities--not enemy armies. Everybody says that."

The colonel gave me a scornful glare.

"Sonny," he said pityingly. "People at one time thought gunpowder was just a nice thing to make firecrackers with, too.

"The way to win a war with a new weapon is to use that new weapon is to use that new weapon in every way you can.

"Suppose the Soviet armies attack. Everyone figures they'd overrun Europe while our fly boys were wiping out Russian cities with atom bombs.

"But how long would it take us then to get the Russian armies out of the rest of Europe? Five years? Ten years? But why concede in advance they can overrun western Europe.

"Before they can hit for the English channel, son, they have to cross a big wide river called the Rhine. To cross that river their army has to mass together. And whenever they mass son, it's my idea we can hit 'em hard with atom bombs. I don't care whether you drop the bomb on 'em or shoot it over with a big gun.

"Either way you'll cost them about five square miles of an army." and I can't think of a better way to invest an atom bomb in wartime."

It made sense to me.

"Colonel," I said. "I think I have been underestimating your gray hairs."

"What loses wars, son," he replied, "is a head with a one-track mind, whether it's on old or young shoulders."

Scientist Raps Atomic 'Suspicions'

Claims Nation's Security Suffers

WHITE OAK, Md.—(INS)—A leading atomic scientist said today that the nation's "real security is suffering" because of "suspicions and criticisms" over "little details and unimportant people."

The charge was made by Dr. Karl T. Compton, chairman of the armed services research and development board in a speech prepared for delivery at the dedication of the aeroballistic facility, naval ordnance laboratory.

Compton, former president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, made no mention of the congressional probe of David E. Lilienthal's handling of the atomic energy commission and AEC policies. But Compton cautioned:

"If major attention is focussed on suspicions and criticisms rather than on confidence and encouragement, we may really find ourselves in serious danger Then he added:

"I am sure that the pendulum has recently swung so far in the direction of concern over secrecy regarding even little details and unimportant people that our real security is suffering."

Compton contended that "security has come to mean secrecy" to the public "and even in the military mind." Secrecy only is the "defensive" aspect of security, the 52-year-old scientist said and added:

"Science flourishes and scientists make progress in an atmosphere of free inquiry and free interchange of ideas. . . .

"Any imposition of secrecy in science is like application of a brake to progress."

Two Boys Missing

Failed To Return Home Last Night

Two teen-aged Mansfield boys who failed to return home from Lucas last night were sought today by police.

The youths, Bruce Heinberger, 15 of 332 Chester avenue, and Gene Ayers, 16 of 62 Massa avenue, were reported to have left Lucas for Mansfield at 10 p. m. yesterday.

Mrs. Glen Heinberger, mother of the one missing boy, said today she and Heinberger searched but no trace was found of the youths. The mother said the boys had gone to Lucas to visit friends.

The Heinberger boy was described as five feet, four inches tall weighting 118 pounds, having brown hair and eyes, and dressed in a "T" shirt and tan trousers. The Ayers youth is five feet, six inches tall, weighs 130 pounds, has brown hair and eyes and was dressed in a "T" shirt, brown trousers and a grey rain jacket.

Rider Sues For $25,000

A Mansfielder whose horse fell on him when it was struck by a truck filed suit in common pleas court today for $25,000 from Victor L. Rhea, Willeben Farm, Lexington and Katharine J. Cockley, Shaker Heights.

Robert Mattox, 118 Raleigh avenue, charges that the defendants were negligent on several counts, which caused the mishap on July 11, 1947, when he was riding north on Trimble road, between Cook road and State Route 545.

Mattox charges his right leg was permanently scarred and injured in the accident and that being partially disabled, he suffered a loss of income.

20 Ways To Beat the Heat

HEAT CONTROL — 1. Close windows and doors during midday.

2. Draw shades on "sunny side."

3. Replace heavy wool rugs with fibre or cotton rugs; or use no rugs at all.

4. Store heavy draperies: replace with light open-mesh material, or use no curtains at all.

5. Put light-colored washable slipcovers on upholstered furniture.

6. Cool off the house exterior by hosing it down in late afternoon; also wet down driveways and walks.

7. Place electric fan near window, so that it blows across a bowl of ice.

8. Hang sheets dampened in cold water in doorways with an electric fan circulating air across them.

9. Make the house as much as 15 degrees cooler with 4" of mineral wool insulation between roof and living quarters.

10. Do a minimum of top-of-stove cooking; use the insulated oven instead; plan light simple meals.

11. Close kitchen from other rooms while cooking.

12. Open kitchen windows while cooking; expel superheated air with ventilating fan or electric fan blowing outward in an open window.

13. Cross-ventilate the attic 24 hours a day, or use a ventilating fan during afternoon and evening.

14. Open all doors and windows in the evening and place two or three electric fans in windows in different rooms to blow inward and draw cool air quickly into the house.

15. Use electric lights sparingly; replace high wattage bulbs with lamps of less intensity.

16. Do the ironing in the cool morning hours.

17. Wear loose, lightweight clothing.

18. Don't over-work, overplay or over-eat.

19. Don't watch the thermometer!

20. Keep cool-tempered; don't fly off the handle!

600 More Wanted For Swim Classes

Only 400 persons have enrolled for the free Red Cross swimming classes which start at North Lake and Liberty Park pools on July 5.

Director Sam Fox said that the Red Cross still hopes to have 1000 "students" in the various swimming classes.

The Red Cross has more instructors available this year than ever before. Fox said. Classes include beginners, intermediate, swimmers, junior life saving, senior life saving and advanced swimmers. Applications may be filed at Red Cross headquarters, 309 Park avenue west.

Persons who are unable to sign up for the first set of lessons to be given from July 5 until July 29, can apply for the second section, which begins Aug. 2 and ends Aug. 29, Red Cross spokesmen said.

Junior life saving classes also will be taught at Hidden Hollow camp, which is sponsored by the Friendly House. Red Cross Instructor Carol Goettinger, 595 Highland avenue, a student at Tulane university, will teach the classes at Hidden Hollow camp.

Lutheran sponsored Camp Mowana is presenting classes in water safety and first aid under the instruction of Red Cross Instructor James Stull of Youngstown. This is one of the few camps in the country offering a course in first aid.

The orientation, to which 75 newspaper men, business executives and labor leaders were invited, was held alternately in Washington, at Fort Benning, Ga., and at Eglan Field, Fla. The 10-day tour ended with a "mad minute" in which all offensive and defensive weapons, with the exception of the atomic bomb, were set off. Dunham is the brother of Mrs. Bruce I. Whiting, 107 Sherman avenue, and is a well-known visitor to the city.

Young People Get Report On Post-War Greece

James E. Lowden, Youth for Christ representative to Greece, spoke of post-war conditions in Greece at a Youth for Christ rally held at John Simpson auditorium Saturday night.

Lowden told the group of the spiritual aspects as well as the results of the communist endeavor in Greece. The offering taken at the close of the rally was presented to Lowden, who is returning to Greece in August, to promote Youth for Christ work in that country.

Naomi Hildebrand and James Eggleston, of the Pleasant Valley Baptist church, defeated Russell Dinger and Dale Campbell, of the Roseland Gospel Center, in the monthly Bible quiz.

A new grand prize question was asked since the original grand prize question was answered at the May rally after being asked at three rallies. The new question was not answered correctly so it will be used at the next rally.

Musical numbers were presented by a girls' trio from the Pleasant Valley Baptist church and a young people's ensemble representing five different churches. Members of the trio were Misses Naomi Hildebrand, Marie Baker, and Marilyn Joyce. Misses Hildebrand, Jo Anna Snyder, Ruth Stambaugh, Dixie Scoles, and James Young, James Hunter jr., and Dean Eckles made up the ensemble.

Louis Stambaugh, pianist, played the offertory and accompanied group singing led by James Hunter jr.

A meeting of all cooperating pastors, young people's presidents, young people's advisers, and others interested in the work of the Mansfield Youth for Christ rally will be held at the Evergreens cafeteria at 5:30 p. m. today.

Zeiter's Hit Gives Shelby 4-3 Victory

By JOHN PATRICK

SHELBY — The Shelby Blues edged the Columbus Athletic club 4 to 3 yesterday in a thriller which saw the Blues score the winning run in the last of the 10th with two away.

With the ball game all tied up going into the last of the 10th Kenny Funk flied out, Biglin doubled, Shoemaker walked then Bob Baker lined out to right field making it two away with a man on first and second. George Zeiters then stepped up in a Frank Merriwell finish and singled, driving in Biglin with the winning run.

BAFFLES SLUGGERS

Smoky Anderson, the big pitcher for Columbus, had the local sluggers baffled with his peculiar delivery, using a half-side-arm and half underhand pitch to effect a submarine ball.

C. Johnson replaced Anderson in the 8th and was credited with the loss.

This gives the Blues nine wins and one loss for the season.

The Blues will play The Willard VFW at Willard Thursday evening and will oppose the Wright A. C. of Columbus Sunday on the Shelby High school diamond. On the 4th they will travel to Akron to oppose the Akron Orphans in a double header.

Final Game Is Set For This Week

PLYMOUTH—Mansfield's American Legion juniors knocked Shelby out of the Richland county tournament here yesterday but only after absorbing its first defeat at the hands of Plymouth in a wild contest.

Mansfield lost to Plymouth, 15-2, and then eliminated Shelby, 7-3.

The finals of the double elimination tournament will be played sometime this week with the county winner due to open play in the district meet Saturday at New London.

The first game was finished under protest after a set-to in the last of the seventh inning. Kenny McCally, Mansfield catcher, and Plymouth Shortstop Larry Schreck were banished from the game for an argument following a play at second. However, Plymouth had only nine men in uniform and when no substitute was available for Schreck, he was allowed to continue in the game.

Mansfield Manager Dewey Durant filed an official protest immediately to the Fifth District committee. Action on the protest is expected tomorrow.

In between arguments, Plymouth hit everything that Mansfield Pitchers Jackie Howell and Gene Yohn threw up. Plymouth rapped seven hits off Howell in the first three and two-thirds innings and 11 off Yohn the rest of the way. Plymouth led 15-0 before Mansfield scored its two runs in the top of the ninth. Ed Schmitt drove in both runs.

DRIVES IN FOUR

In the second game, McCally drove in four of the Mansfield runs and scored a fifth as he rapped out four singles in five times at bat. Tim Nedro and Dave Hardy combined for some tight pitching.

Nedro was hurt fielding a grounder in the third inning and had to be pulled, although having given up only two hits and no walks. Dave Hardy, who had pitched and won Saturday, came back and allowed only one hit the rest of the way.

DiMag To Test Ailing Heel

NEW YORK —(UP)— Joe DiMaggio will make an attempt to rejoin the New York lineup tonight for the first time since spring training.

The ailing slugger will participate in a home run hitting contest before the Giant-Yankee exhibition game. If his bad heel does not hurt, he will be installed in the Yank starting lineup for the game.

And if he survives that game without pain, he may return to his regular job in centerfield when the Yanks launch their road tour at Boston Tuesday night.

Penn Auto-Sporting Goods dropped a 7-2 decision to Centerburg in an abbreviated game at Centerburg yesterday as the Auto's Shellby Swank was hit hard in his first start of the season.

Swank had not done any pitching this year and could not get started yesterday. He gave up one run and one hit in the first inning and then was driven from the box with six runs on five hits and two walks in the last of the second.

Lou Gregorio came on with two out in the second and gave up only two hits until the game was halted by rain in the last of the fifth frame.

Penn scored its only runs in the top of the first. Red Hamman led off with a single, moved to second on Dubby Lockhart's sacrifice and scored on Wilbur Wade's double down the left field line. Jim Guest then tripled to left center to score Wade.

The Mansfielders have their busiest week of the season coming up as they play five games in five days. The tight schedule opens with a 6 p. m. contest Wednesday at Lexington. Friday, the Autos and T. and E. Tavern collide at 5:45 at Blue Goose.

Two games are on tap for Sunday with the Galion Merchants coming here in the afternoon and Penn travelling to New London for a contest at night. Monday, July 4, the Mansfielders return home for a game against Tiffin.

Manager Lefty Deeds will have a chance to give his entire roster of six pitchers some work in the games. Included on the list are Dutch Bader, Gregorio, Swank, Jack Hammett, Dick Poth and Don Hardy.

Eddie Waitkus Release Set On Wednesday

CHICAGO — (INS) — Illinois Masonic hospital authorities said today Eddie Waitkus, Philadelphia Phillies' star first baseman, who was shot June 14 by a lovesick Chicago typist, may be released next Wednesday.

One spokesman said the .22 caliber bullet lodged near the 29-year-old player's spine will not be removed before he leaves the hospital.

Another pint of blood was removed from the handsome bachelor's lung cavity Saturday and doctors described his condition as good.

He was shot by Ruth Steinhagen who lured him to her swank hotel room with a note saying she had something important to tell him.

The Phillies' star has been subpoenaed to appear at the girl's arraignment Thursday in felony court.

'Ez' Charles Arrives Home To Play Golf

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Ezzard Charles came home yesterday—to play some golf.

The newly crowned NBA was greeted by thousands when he arrived from Chicago where he licked Joe Walcott last Wednesday night for the title. He was paraded through the streets to the courthouse where Mayor Albert Cash gave him the city's official greeting.

Charles said he had no definite plans for the immediate future except to rest and play golf with a new set of clubs which were given him. He said, though, he'd like to defend his crown in Cincinnati and promoter Sam Becker immediately came out with the word Ezzard's first defense of his title might be here.

Becker said he is negotiating with Jake Mintz, one of Charles' managers, to have the champ fight here in the fall. He said he'd like to match Ezzard against the winner of the Joey Maxim-Gus Lesnevich scrap which is being arranged by Becker.

The welcoming parade for the new champion almost was marred by tragedy. The automobile in which Charles was driven by Miss Lule Belle Henderson struck at least three persons including Sheriff Dan Tehan. Tehan, also a well known sports official, was bruised. Carl Wellinger, a photographer for the Cincinnati Enquirer, also was hit and suffered a sprained knee and cuts. Another man hit was Percy Hill.

Wellinger said at a hospital that several others were knocked down when the car made a sudden start. Miss Henderson said her foot slipped off the brake pedal in that mishap.

Indians Take Ninth Win On Road Trip

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—(INS)—After a successful eastern road trip in which they won nine of 13 games, the Cleveland Indians move in to Brooklyn for an exhibition game with "dem bums."

The Tribe, which defeated the Washington Nats, 3-1, in 10 innings yesterday, knocked off the Dodgers in a previous exhibition game this season by a score of 3-2. The game is for the benefit of the Brooklyn sandlot fund. Sam Zoldak will be the Cleveland pitcher.

The Redskins continued their steady climb towards the top with yesterday's victory, their third in the four-game series with the Nats.

Steve Gromek, who has been pitching in hard luck and with very few runs for the most part of the year had to go one extra frame to gain his third victory of the season against four defeats. It was his first start since he was hit in the head with a pitched ball three weeks ago.

The pride of Hamtramck gave up but five hits and walked only two batters as 18,109 sun-baked fans looked on in Griffith Stadium in Washington.

Washington took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a triple by Buddy Lewis and an infield out, and it wasn't until the fifth that the Indians could tie the count.

Gromek opened the fifth with a single to left, but was forced at second by Dale Mitchell. After Ray Boone walked, Mickey Vernon flied to Lewis and Mitchell raced to third after the catch and scored on an infield single by Larry Doby.

WIN IN TENTH

The Redskins, however, could not get to pitcher Sid Hudson for the winning runs until the tenth, when two hits and three walks accounted for two runs.

Boone opened the inning with a base on balls and was sacrificed by Vernon. After Doby was purposely passed, Gordon flied out, but Kenny Keltner came through with a single, scoring Boone. Bob Kennedy then doubled to right, scoring Doby. Hegan was intentionally passed, but Gromek flied out.

Bob Lemon will be the Indians' starting pitcher tomorrow night, when they open a four-game series with the Detroit Tigers at Cleveland Stadium. Lemon has a record of seven wins and three losses.

Aussie Star Is Big Threat To Falkenburg

WIMBLEDON, England — (AP) — America's mighty tennis phalanx faced another possible rupture today in quarter-final matches of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Defending champion Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood, Calif., was conceded no better than an even chance against the wily John Bromwich, Australia's veteran two-handed stroking specialist.

The top-seeded Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., and third-ranked were expected to gain the Frankie Parker of Los Angeles round of four as scheduled.

Schroeder squared off against Frank Sedgman, young Australian champion, while Parker met Eric Sturgess of South Africa.

The fourth quarter-final Joust pitted Yugoslavia's Davis cup ace, Jaroslaw Drobny, against Geoff Brown, the giant killer from down under.

Boston Red Sox Win Fifth Straight Victory, 5-3

John Pesky Big Gun With Timely Blows

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox are devouring everything in sight these days, largely because little Johnny Pesky once again is "setting the table" for sluggers Ted Williams, and Vern Stephens.

Persky is the lad whose name you never see among the home run and runs-batted-in leaders, but year in and year out he's around the top in hits, runs scored and batting percentage.

In four years with the Sox, punch-hitting Pesky never has failed to tally at least 100 runs per season, and in three of those he collected 200 or more hits and hit over .300.

Pesky got off to a wobbly start this year, and it was no coincidence the Red Sox did the same. Time and again, Pesky, who precedes Williams and Stephens in the batting order, failed to get on for the power-hitting pair.

Johnny has hit safely in Boston's last 12 games, scoring in all but two. The Red Sox have won 10 of them. Their 5-3 triumph yesterday over the St. Louis Browns was their fifth in a row and moved them into third place by two percentage points over Detroit.

Pesky has been a ball of fire during that stretch. He's banged out 22 hits in 50 times at bat for a .444 figure. He has pulled his average up 33 points to a respectable .301.

It was southpaw Chuck Stobbs' turn to knock off the hapless Brownies yesterday, the bonus youngster pitching a seven-hitter for his second victory of the season. Boston now is only five games behind the league leading New York Yankees.

YANKS GET SPLIT

The Yankees were held to a split in their doube-header with the Tigers. Ed Lopat ended a four-game losing streak, pitching the Yankees to a 6-2 triumph in the opener, but the Tigers came back to pound Vic Raschi and Frank Shea for a 12-4 second game win.

Pat Mullin, a bench-warmer practically all season, replaced the slumping Johnny Groth for Detroit and slammed out three home runs in the nightcap. He hadn't connected for any before yesterday. The loss was the second for the 11-game winning Raschi, both at the hands of the Bengals.

Runner-up Philadelphia also divided a twin bill. The A's beat the Chicago White Sox, 4-2, on pitch hitter Wally Moses' three-run double in the eighth, but the Sox came back to win the second, 3-0. Bob Kusava and Marino Pieretti combined to spin the shutout.

A pair of walks, a single by Ken Keltner and a double by Bob Kennedy gave Cleveland two runs in the 10th inning and a 3-1 verdict over the Senators in Washington. Steve Gromek edged out Sid Hudson in the hurling duel.

Brooklyn protected its half game edge over St. Louis in the National league, running roughshod over Pittsburgh, 15-3. A 10-run seventh inning broke up any semblance of a ball game. The second game of the doubleheader, delayed 42 minutes by the rain, was called at the end of three innings because of Pennsylvania's Sunday curfew. The Dodgers were ahead, 5-4, but all records are wiped off.

Don Newcombe notched his fifth victory.

The Cards kept pace with the Dodgers as Red Munger shut out the Boston Braves, 2-0, with a four-hitter.

CINCY TAKES PAIR

The Cincinnati Reds slowed up the onrushing Philadelphia Phils, knocking them off in both ends of a doubleheader, 4-3 and 5-2. The Reds won the opener in the 10th when pinch hitter Homer Howell doubled Lloyd Merrican in from second. Herm Wehmeier, gained his second victory in the nightcap.

Playing without Leo Durocher, their suspended manager, the New York Giants salvaged the final of a three-game series from the Chicago Cubs, 6-2.

Hawks 9 Goes Into Lead In County Loop

The Mansfield Hawks took over undisputed possession of first place in the Richland County baseball league yesterday by walloping the Ontario Merchants, 16-2, at Tillman park.

Cliff Robison and John Stokes scattered ten Ontario hits while the Hawks were climbing on a pair of visiting pitchers for 18 safeties. Eight extra base hits were among the number, but Hall of Ontario got the only home run. Ralph Majors had two doubles and two singles for the Hawks.

The Hawks now have three victories against one defeat to put them a half-game ahead of the idle Butler.

Shelby clouted Lexington, 21-12, in the other league game which was played as the first part of a double-header at Lexington. Lexington defeated Marengo, 7-1, in the other game.

The Lexington - Shelby game was a wild hitting exhibition as 44 hits in all rolled off the two teams bats. Seven home runs in all were hit including two by Roberts of Lexington.

Other four-play wallops were by Hartz and the Reed brothers of Shelby and by Pollock and Worthley of Lexington.

In College Golf

AMES, Iowa — (INS) — Bob Kepler's Ohio State golf team was to compete today in the national collegiate meet in Ames.

COLLEGE TRY—Top-seeded Ted Schroeder, LaCrescenta, Cal., gives his all in making a return in his match with Vladimar Czernick, Czechoslovakia, in the fourth round of the men's singles at Wimbledon, England Saturday. Schroeder won, 6-3, 8-6, 8-6. (AP Wirephoto).

Cleveland Golf Ace Wins Publinx Tournament, 4-3

By FRITZ HOWELL

AKRON —(AP)— The Sylvanus P. Germain trophy, emblematic of Ohio public links golf supremacy, today was the property of Clevelander Ralph Schneider.

The tradition-draped trophy, presented to the pay-as-you-go boys 20 years ago by the Ohio Golf association—the private clubs, went to Schneider yesterday as he chalked up a workmanlike 4 and 3 win over East Liverpool's Tom Cloran in the final match over Breathnach country club.

Schneider, a 35-year-old photographer, thus becomes the second Clevelander in 20 years to take the fee course laurels. A dozen years ago fireman Tom Radican won for the lakeside city.

The new champ has long been a threat in big time golf. A year ago he reached the quarter-finals in the national public links title fight at Atlanta, Ga., and in 1945 he won the eighth air force ETO championship in England.

He succeeds Val Chiaverini of Toledo on the throne which the latter had occupied since 1942. Chiaverini had copped the crown in three different types of tournaments—36 holes of medal play, 72 holes of medal play, and at match play—before bowing out in this year's second round before Joe Lazor, 19-year-old caddie master of the host club.

Schneider's victory in the finals was fairly easy. He had three birdies and slipped over par three times to stay even with the card through the 15 holes he needed to clinch the crown. He three-putted the first and sixth greens, and those were the only holes he lost.

He won six of the first nine holes to boast a four-up edge at the turn, and then halved the next six in par figures to close out the match. Cloran had all kinds of trouble, hitting one drive out of bounds and another into a tree, and visiting traps and rough all along the way.

Cloran, who is 28, played with Ohio State's varsity before quitting school for a 43-month army tour. He is unemployed.

In yesterday's semi-final matches, Cloran triumphed 3 and 1 over Paul Tulga, chunky Columbus star, and Schneider had the same margin over young Lazor.

Indications were that the annual publinks tournament would be shifted back to the 72-hole medal play style last year, so that the entire field could stay in until the finish.

Craig Dixon Gets Win Over Dillard In Thinclad Meet

FRESNO, CALIF., — (UP) — With the 1949 National AAU track and field meet concluded after three record-shattering performances and a couple of ties, officials today named a U. S. squad of 53 stars to perform in a series of conteste in Europe.

The feature is a Scandinavia vs. U. S. meet at Oslo July 27-28-29.

The individual performances won expense-paid tours of Europe for the flock of athletes.

Probably the best was the work of Craig Dixon on UCLA. He beat the great Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace in the high hurdles, and then won the lows as Dillard sat out. Both were invited for the European tour, however.

The European junket gets under way on July 6 when a contingent of 10 men, led by coach Lary Snyder of Ohio State, leaves for Portugal. The rest of the big squad goes later in the month, directly to Oslo.

Riggs Notches Pro Net Title

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—(UP)—Bobby Riggs today could claim the championship of Don Budge.

Technically, duck-waddle Bobby is the new national prefessional tennis king. However, his victory in the finals yesterday didn't prove much beyond the fact that he can beat Budge. With 1948 champ Jack Kramer absent from this tournament much luster was gone from the crown.

This was the third time that Riggs won the title, and it was the third time that he defeated Budge in the finals. The scores yesterday were 9-7, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Veteran Catcher-Manager Paces Minor Loop Hitting

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Catcher-Manager Joe Kracher of the East Texas league's Kilgore club, after 10 seasons, has hit the peak as the best hitter in the minors.

The 34-year-old receiver-pilot, who spent part of the 1939 season with the Philadelphia Phillies, racked up a .433 batting mark last year when his Kilgore club was in the Lone Star league.

President George M. Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues (the minors) said Kracher's mark was the best in the bushes and that he would get the sterling silver bat awarded annually by Hillerich and Bradsby.

Presentation of the award will be made at a "Kracher Night" ceremony at Kilgore June 29, by League President J. Walter Morris.

In piling up his championship record Kracher belted 166 hits in 113 games and 383 times at bat as his club won the pennant and playoff titles. Joe is pacing the drillers again this year with a .322 average for 44 games. The 220-pound right hander uses a 34½ ounce bat, and last year he had one string of 29 straight games in which he hit safely.

Kracher is a native of Philadelphia, and played his first pro ball with Johnstown, Pa., in the mid-Atlantic league in 1936. He was with Thomasville, Ga., and Baltimore before spending the latter portion of the 1939 campaign with the Phillies. Except for a short stay with Wilkes-Barre he spent the next two and a half seasons with Baltimore, before going into the army in 1942.

He was discharged late in 1945, after serving in Europe with the Third Army Combat Engineers, and signed with Shreveport in 1946. He was released in May, finished the season with Texarkana, and then Kilgore bought his contract.

It was a good buy, for Joe's Kilgore club won the pennant and playoff in 1947 and repeated last year. This year his team is locked in a tight race for the lead with Longview and Marshall.

* * *

(Editor's Note: Don Miller, News-Journal outdoor editor, was writing sports for the Longview News and Journal last year when Kracher was going hot. Miller has this to say.

"This Kracher is really a slugger. I covered all the Longview-Kilgore games in the Lone Star league last year and watched him pop a good many homers.

"The followers of the Kilgore Drillers were so pleased with the way he managed the team that they held a Joe Kracher night and gave him a new auto, cash, etc.

"The Drillers copped the O'Shaughnessy playoff against Longview's Texans.")

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

FHA Reaches Fifteenth Birthday

Delivers Report On Financing

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Federal Housing administration (FHA) today completes 15 years in the protection of home loans in an expanding field of operations.

The depression-born FHA, authorized by Congress to tackle "chaotic conditions" in the real estate and mortgage market back in 1934, reports:

1. It has insured more than $16,000,000,000 worth of mortgage and property - improvement loans.

2. Some 2,500,000 American families are now living in dwellings provided for under the FHA plan, more than 1,500,000 of them being new units started with FHA financing.

The FHA claims a near-perfect batting average in home-loan security under its system of long-term monthly payments to reduce the principal of the loan and take care of taxes and insurance.

It has insured more than 2,000,000 mortgages on one to four-family dwellings with face amounts totaling about $11,000,000,000.

Some 12,000 — about 6 per cent — of these 2,000,000 home mortgages have been foreclosed.

(The FHA lends no money and builds no houses. Its sister agency, the Public Housing administration, contributes government money to keep rents in low-cost housing projects within the means of low-income families.)

The FHA insures mortgage loans on residential properties made by private lending institutions. It also insures financial institutions against loss on loans to pay for alterations and improvements to homes and other real property.

Between 1934 and March 31 last, 8,968,00 property - improvement loans were made, totaling $3,358,983,000 In April, the FHA eliminated the required 10 per cent cash down payment on repair and modernization loans.

FHA is operating in a wider field. Before the war its business was primarily the insurance of loans on owner-occupied single dwellings. Now, besides a big business in insuring loans on large-scale rental projects, it is trying new schemes to encourage housing production.

Cure As Bad As Ailment

Says Rabies Not Always Summer Disease

COLUMBUS — (INS) — 'Mad Dog'"

Whole communities become terrorized when that cry rings out during the hot summer months of June, July and August.

Yet Dr. Charles R. Freeble, jr., says the hysteria-producer, rabies, isn't particularly a summer - time ailment. Freeble is head of the communicable diseases division in the State Health department.

He says rabies goes on all year-'round and that it hits its high point in the spring and early summer.

Dog days have nothing to do with it, contrary to public opinion.

Furthermore, the dog may not be rabid at all. He may be hot or tired or thirsty or just feeling nasty. Freeble says:

"After all, dogs get out of sorts just like people."

Moreover, he says there have been only two cases of rabies in humans reported to the department recently and those were back in 1945.

Freeble says the main problem in rabies is with livestock. One Guernsey county veterinarian told him that he, the veterinarian, saw $25,000 worth of livestock lost through rabies in that county alone. There is no way to estimate the loss throughout Ohio.

The particular thing that causes all the hysteria, Freeble says, is that when rabies strikes either humans or animals, the microscopic changes it works in the nerves of the brain are a cold 100 per cent fatal.

Freeble says the catch is that the cure can be as bad as the disease, if the patient is not infected with rabies. He says that while 90 per cent of the patients withstand the shots whether or not they have the disease, there is a chance an allergy can be set up which can cause partial of complete paralysis, brain inflammation, or, rarely, death.

This keeps the patient, doctor and the veterinarian on the hook.

Freeble says the decision as to whether to administer rabies treatment is "one of the toughest a doctor ever has to make, because if he doesn't and the patient dies, it's the doctor's fault.

If he does and the patient dies, some people will still say it's his fault, even though he's done his ethical and medical best."

"Activated" Shell Premium is the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

Activation makes the difference

Shell splits molecules: Shell scientists take the finest available crude—activate the molecules by splitting them and rearranging the atoms according to Shell's formula for a perfectly balanced gasoline. The result—Shell Premium, the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

YES, many of today's engines have been stepped-up . . . they call for more powerful gasoline! Now Shell gives you the most powerful gasoline your car can use—Shell Premium—it's "activated." No other fuel can top its power in your car!

This is made possible by Shell's own, specially produced power components and by Shell's own blending methods!

Actually, Shell splits molecules to get more power for today's more powerful engines. So you get a gasoline that's "activated" 3 ways!

1. Activated for knockless power!
2. Activated for fast "getaway."
3. Activated for full mileage.

Ohio House Seeks Bargaining Rights for Public Employes

Ferguson Act Facing Revision

Action Scheduled In Night Session

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio's labor-minded House of Representatives will make another effor tonight to enact legislation designed to settle grievances of public employes.

Its first effort, made early in the session, provided for outright repeal of the Ferguson act passed two years ago. That law prohibits public employes from striking by providing for their summary dismissal.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche strongly indicated an outright repeal of the Ferguson act would be met with executive veto. The repealer was promptly shelved in the Senate. Work was started on a new measure that would offer such employes some relief but yet prevent their striking to obtain satisfaction of their grievances. Such a bill comes before the House tonight.

Its sponsors say it will meet the objections of Governor Lausche by providing that, if conciliation fails, grievances be arbitrated by a three-member committee.

Findings of the committee must be accepted by the employing agency unless it is impossible to do so without legislative action. If the employing agency arbitrarily failed to accept an award made by the arbitration committee, the employe would be authorized to strike to enforce compliance with the award.

The Senate is scheduled to act tonight on revision of the divorce and annulment laws and on a bill authorizing county commissioners to issue bonds to finance their share of poor relief. The state is supposed to finance one-half of poor relief costs. Governor Lausche has said that poor relief is one of the major problems now facing the state and local governments.

Under the proposed new divorce law, a waiting period of three months would be required between the time a divorce petition is filed in the courts and the time of its hearing by the court. If a decree were granted, another two-month period would be provided before the decree could be made final.

Under the present law there is no definite time limit between the filing of the petition for divorce and its hearing by the courts. Decrees are made final immediately and the parties are privileged to remarry forthwith.

During the week the house also is expected to vote on the capital improvements bill. The measure carries more than $60,000,000 in new money for additions and betterments at the various state welfare institutions and universities, and for other purposes. The bill also re-appropriates unexpended balances left over from appropriations made two years ago That makes the total money value of the bill approximately $10,000,000.

Library Offers Sea Stories In Collection of New Books

SEA HAWKS OF EMPIRE, by Ralph Bailey, is one of the new books for children which is available at the Mansfield Public library today.

The book, a thrilling collection of tales about the great sea traders in the 16th and 17th centuries, will appeal to boys who like adventure stories. This selection skillfully presents much of the history of trade in an interesting manner.

Young readers this week will enjoy the new book, YEAR IN THE CITY, by Lucy Mitchell. Billy and Jenny live in the city. They like it. They like the city sounds and the city sights. Perhaps young Mansfielders will be more aware of what their city is like and come to like it more after reading this little book

A sure fire hit is FIRST BOOK OF AUTOMOBILES, by Campbell Tatham Good clear type, not too hard words and lots of bright colorful pictures and diagrams help small children to know more and more about the ever interesting auto.

The next two books are especially for Vacation Bible school pupils who want more to read. LET'S GO TO NAZARETH, by Elizabeth Reed, is a story of timeless Nazareth. Tobish is seven when the book begins. With him the reader sees the planting and the harvest, the Feasts as well as the every-day life. He sees something of the ancient Hebrew religion and its beauty JESUS COMES FOR EVERYBODY, by Julie Bedier, is a beautifully illustrated, brief story of the life of Jesus. At the end there is a "Hymn for God's kingdom" which could be used for home or Sunday school worship

HOMING PIGEONS, by Herbert Zim, is another in a series of small, short, useful books Like the others, this covers an amazing amount of knowledge in a very little space. Just about everything you'd want to know is here, from a history of the birds right down to diagrams for their homes, banding, training and racing.

Elisa Bialk has added another book to the collection of horse and dog stories. TAFFY'S FOAL is an exciting story of children and horses, horse shows and blue ribbons, disappointments and triumphs.

SENIOR YEAR, by Anne Emery, is this week's offering for older girls. The plot is rather complicated with home troubles, jobs and school and romance.

Now we do a volume business, too. But we know where you'd be if we didn't make a profit.

In the first place we probably wouldn't get your patronage. You now come into our service stations because you like our gasoline, our prices and our service.

We couldn't give you these if we didn't have the money that comes from profits to invest in modern, cost-cutting equipment . . . in seeking new oil sources so you'll have plenty of our petroleum products. This, of course, means more jobs for more people, too.

Most of the profits we make go back into the business. The owners of our company get only half as much of the total profit as prewar. Yes, and the government gets more than before.

We think this "profit system" is good for our customers, good for employment, good for the government as well as good for our owners.

What do you think?

Ohio House Seeks Bargaining Rights for Public Employes

Ferguson Act Facing Revision

Action Scheduled In Night Session

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio's labor-minded House of Representatives will make another effor tonight to enact legislation designed to settle grievances of public employes

Its first effort, made early in the session, provided for out right repeal of the Ferguson act passed two years ago That law prohibits public employes from striking by providing for their summary dismissal

Gov. Frank J. Lausche strongly indicated an outright repeal of the Ferguson act would be met with executive veto The repealer was promptly shelved in the Senate Work was started on a new measure that would offer such employes some relief but yet prevent their striking to obtain satisfaction of their grievances Such a bill comes before the House tonight

Its sponsors say it will meet the objections of Governor Lausche by providing that, if conciliation fails, grievances be arbitrated by a three-member committee.

Findings of the committee must be accepted by the employing agency unless it is impossible to do so without legislative action If the employing agency arbitrarily failed to accept an award made by the arbitration committee, the employe would be authorized to strike to enforce compliance with the award

The Senate is scheduled to act tonight on revision of the divorce and annulment laws and on a bill authorizing county commissioners to issue bonds to finance their share of poor relief The state is supposed to finance one-half of poor relief costs. Governor Lausche has said that poor relief is one of the major problems now facing the state and local governments

Under the proposed new divorce law, a waiting period of three months would be required between the time a divorce petition is filed in the courts and the time of its hearing by the court If a decree were granted, another two month period would be provided before the decree could be made final

Under the present law there is no definite time limit between the filing of the petition for divorce and its hearing by the courts. Decrees are made final immediately and the parties are privileged to remarry forthwith.

During the week the house also is expected to vote on the capital improvements bill The measure carries more than $60,000,000 in new money for additions and betterments at the various state welfare institutions and universities and for other purposes The bill also re-appropriates unexpended balances left over from appropriations made two years ago That makes the total money value of the bill approximately $10 000 000

Youth, 21, Calls Death Accidental

PAINESVILLE—(UP)—A first degree murder charge was expected to be filed today against Robert P. Ziegler, 21, who allegedly confessed the slaying of a drinking partner at Wickliffe last Friday.

Acting Police Chief Carmen Marsh of Wickliffe said Ziegler confessed the gun slaying of Harry J. Cameron, 39, but claimed the shooting was accidental. The youth, Chief Marsh said, said he accidentally shot Cameron during a fight over a 33-year-old woman with whom they had been drinking.

Boy Ordered To Juvenile Research

A 16-year-old North Weldon avenue boy was ordered to the State Bureau of Juvenile Research today by Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer for molesting a 10-year-old girl June 19. The boy will enter the Bureau July 18.

4 Trusties Flee Camp

Four more Mansfield reformatory trusties escaped last night from the Osborn State honor farm near Sandusky.

Three trusties escaped last week. One of them is still at large.

Yesterday's escapers were Denver Keeney, 20, sentenced from Hancock county for breaking and entering; Robert Priser, 22, from Montgomery county for breaking and entering; John W. Lipscomb, 23, from Preble county for burglary; and Clifford Elswick, 25, from Lawrence county for cutting with intent to wound.

The prisoner still at large from last week's escape is Charles Helton, 24, who was sent from Franklin county for auto theft.

Jewels Gone, Police Told

Theft of $179 worth of jewelry from an East Sixth street home and burglary of an Oak Hill place residence were reported to police yesterday.

Mrs. Velma Rawls, 56 East Sixth street, told police Sunday afternoon that a watch, valued at $100, and a ring, valued at $79, were stolen from her home sometime Saturday night.

Last night, George P. Koleff, 328 Oak Hill place, reported that his home had been entered through a cellar window and that his army discharge papers were missing from a ransacked dresser drawer in a second-floor bedroom.

Makes Debut In Wheelchair

NORWICH, Conn. — (UP) — Susan Peters, the beautiful young movie actress who was paralyzed from the waist down 3-½ years ago in a hunting accident, will make her stage debut tonight in a wheelchair.

Appearing as Laura, a crippled girl in Tennessee William's "The Glass Menagerie," she said she hoped she would be able to make her audience forget the wheelchair.

"If I can do that," she said, "I'll know I've taken my first step."

Take Bike Hike

The Legion Scouts Rifle club will shoot at the YMCA at 6:30 p. m. today. A bike hike will be held at 9 a. m. Tuesday under the direction of John Hawkins. Boys wishing to make the bike hike are asked to meet at the Carpenter school grounds.

Funeral Rites Held For Teacher

Services for Miss Harriett Haynes, 85, one of Mansfield's oldest retired school teachers, were held at the Finefrock funeral home at 1:30 p. m. today in charge of Rev. C. W. Stoneburner, pastor of the First Methodist church. Burial was made in Mansfield cemetery.

Miss Haynes died at General hospital Friday afternoon, following a lingering illness. She had been a patient at the hospital for more than three years.

A teacher in the Mansfield public school system, Miss Haynes is remembered by thousands of Mansfielders as principal at Brinkerhoff school and teacher of the second grade at West Fifth street school, both of which positions she held for many years prior to retiring.

Now we do a volume business, too. But we know where you'd be if we didn't make a profit.

In the first place we probably wouldn't get your patronage. You now come into our service stations because you like our gasoline, our prices and our service.

We couldn't give you these if we didn't have the money that comes from profits to invest in modern, cost-cutting equipment . . . in seeking new oil sources so you'll have plenty of our petroleum products. This, of course, means more jobs for more people, too.

Most of the profits we make go back into the business. The owners of our company get only half as much of the total profit as prewar. Yes, and the government gets more than before.

We think this "profit system" is good for our customers, good for employment, good for the government as well as good for our owners.

What do you think?

Would Conform To Civil Service

ALTHOUGH civil service provisions definitely prohibit political favoritism in the appointment of postmasters, everybody knows—or should know—that politics plays a large part in selecting postmasters, and this is now publicly acknowledged by President Truman in his request that Congress enact legislation to abolish this practice.

Under the old "to the victor belongs the spoils" formula, distribution of postmasterships to active party workers was common procedure, and civil service pronouncements to the contrary have thus far proved ineffective.

Under the present plan postmasters are appointed by the President, subject to confirmation by the Senate, but it is President Truman's idea that the postmaster general, acting under civil service regulations, should have this responsibility.

Whether or not this would actually make qualifications the determining factor in choosing postmasters is problematical, as party politics has a peculiar knack of injecting itself into appointive public jobs.

Kindly Memories of Miss Haynes

ONE of the pleasant memories during later life is that of the school teachers who taught in the lower grades and who exerted considerable influence over the small children who were getting their first experience in schooling.

Such a teacher was Miss Harriet Haynes, who has just passed from life at the age of 85, and who will be affectionately remembered by many of her former pupils who have now grown to manhood and womanhood, but whose recollection of their early school days under the instruction of Miss Haynes has carried through the years.

The long and devoted service of Miss Haynes in the Mansfield public school system serves to strengthen belief that school teaching is much more than a "job," that the influence of a good teacher is projected far into the future through the benefits it confers upon the many children who are privileged to share in such an exemplification of unselfish service.

As Strawberry Season Passes

THIS has been a good season for strawberries in many parts of the country. Just enough dry weather and just enough rain have combined to make a bumper crop of large juicy berries.

The Mansfield vicinity has a number of large-scale strawberry growers, as well as many who produce excellent berries in smaller quantities, so the local markets have been well supplied for the past several weeks, although prices were at a high level.

Some families have enjoyed strawberry shortcake several times a week and the preserve shelf in many homes is filled with ranks of ruby-red glasses of jam, which will be relished next winter on toast or hot biscuits. Vanilla ice cream takes on new individuality when it is draped with crushed honey-sweet berries, and real epicures sit down to a bowl of big ones with the stems left on and dip them in powdered sugar for delightful eating.

One of the best things about the lovely month of June is the strawberry crop.

Michigan Has No Death Penalty

SUCH a frightful crime as that committed in Lansing, Mich., last Thursday night goes far to strengthen the argument that Michigan should restore capital punishment for such offenses.

The body of a 4-year-old boy, whose throat had been cut by the jagged edge of a broken beer bottle, was found in a weed-grown storage lot four blocks from the state capitol.

Whether or not the fiendish attacker was mentally unbalanced is of little concern, as it is extermination rather than punishment that may well be regarded as justifying the death penalty for such an atrocity.

Foods That Contribute To Health

IMPORTANCE of protein foods is emphasized in a recent article in a medical journal, written by a doctor recognized as an authority on diet. He believes that the superiority of American soldiers in the last war was the result of having the highest protein content in their diet, mentioning meat, milk and eggs as sources of complete protein.

Travelers are impressed by the relatively frail physical stature of many Europeans, which is attributed in large part to insufficient protein foods. Meat and eggs have been luxuries in Europe for a number of years and thousands of people have lived on the verge of starvation.

History discloses that centuries ago one of the most famous regiments in the British army was given the nickname "Beefeaters," because of the great quantity of beef the soldiers consumed, and while the word "protein," was then unknown its benefits were evidenced by the sturdiness of those who were able to partake adequately of foods in which Nature provides a liberal supply.

And to think that it is from Washington that advice to "keep calm" is being spread out over the country!

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Unemployment Can Reach Danger Point

THAT some unemployment, although it visits some hardship on a few, is a means of improving the condition of the economy as a whole and of the vast majority of the employed, would surely be denied by labor leaders and Fair Dealers

It is a thought, however, which might be privately shared by many employers and by thousands of average citizens. It cannot be stated publicly by an employer, because he would be torn to bits by sentimentalists, by some politicians and by his own employes.

For several reasons it is hard to debate this point in the United States. In the first place we cannot fix the limit of what may be called "wholesome unemployment."

It is obvious that a small percentage of unemployment is inevitable because of the deliberate wish of some workers to take time off, or because a million or more are unemployable, or because there must be leeway for shiftina about in a free society. There also is the question of statistical reckoning of the real figure of employment.

Therefore, it may be taken for granted that some unemployment is nothing to worry about and is not a matter that should call for government intervention.

We also know that when unemployment rises to a figure above, say, 6,000,000 the whole economy suffers, and stark need appears on every side.

Somewhere, therfore, between 2,000,000 and 6,000,000 unemployed is a point which may be regarded as healthy and productive of higher standards generally. The question is where this point is located and how it can be measured.

* * *

England's Experience.

AN interesting debate is going on in England on this question The Economist, which is a rather liberal publication, has suggested that a moderate degree of unemployment — about half that which prevailed in the best prewar year or a quarter of that in the worst year—might be wholesome.

The Economist denies that it is talking about a specific percentage, but it is apparent that its editors have in mind something like 5 per cent.

It notes that an abnormally high level of employment since the end of the war has been accompanied by a low level of productivity and an increase in the costs of production.

It points out bluntly to British workers that only because of American dollars have British workers been able to keep up their standard of living and that those dollars will not be available indefinitely.

It also points out that with the recovery of other countries—and this must apply with special force to Germany—the British worker must compete with the world. If in that competition he is revealed as a poor producer, working with diminished energy and with outdated tools, he will fare very badly indeed. And no government help can save him.

It is notable that nearly four years of socialistic life has not raised the productive capacity of the British worker. The individual worker, with all his government benefits, may feel that he is doing much better, but the whole economy upon which he must ultimately depend is not better off. It is, in fact, growing steadily worse and he is less capable of competing with workers in other countries.

The cost of the services and gratuities provided by the socialist government is running far beyond its estimates. The welfare state has denied the primary claim of socialism. Despite its benefits, it has lowered the workers' capacity to produce.

The Nation Today

Outside the Classroom

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHNGTON — Worry about communism has crept into the schools and colleges and a number of top educators say a communist shouldn't be hired to teach.

That doesn't deprive him of intellectual freedom, they argue, for such a man surrendered that freedom when he became a member of the communist party.

Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard, was one of 20 outstanding educators who made that statement. But immediately they faced this next, obvious question:

What of the after-school, outside-the-classroom activities of some professor who, although not a proven communist, may have taken part in something where the communists had a hand, such as a meeting?

What should be done about him? That question was raised last week about a couple of Harvard professors.

Dr. Conant took a stand on that by citing as a model a statement made in 1947 by a former Harvard president, A. Lawrence Lowell. It's on the "Professor Outside the Classroom."

Lowell made the statement in his annual report for that World War I year, taking note that the war had raised questions of academic freedom and freedom of speech by professors.

"The gravest questions, and the strongest feelings, arise from action beyond his chosen field and outside of his classroom. Here he speaks only as a citizen," Lowell wrote

"By appointment to a professorship he acquires no rights that he did not possess before; but there is a real difference of opinion today on the question whether he loses any rights that he would otherwise enjoy.

"The argument in favor of a restraining power on the part of the government boards of universities and colleges is based upon the fact that by extreme, or injudicious, remarks that shock public sentiment, a professor can do great harm to the institution with which he is connected.

* * *

Restraint On Freedom.

"THAT is true, and sometimes a professor thoughtlessly does an injury that is without justification. . .

"In spite of the risk of injury to the institution, the objections to restraint upon what professors may say as citizens seems to me far greater than the harm done by leaving them free. In the first place, to impose upon the teacher in a university restrictions to which the members of other professions, lawyers, physicians, engineers, and so forth are not subjected, would produce a sense of irritation and humiliation. In accepting a chair under such conditions a man would surrender a part of his liberty: what he might say would be submitted to the censorship of a board of trustees, and he would cease to be a free citizen.

"Such a policy would tend seriously to discourage some of the best men from taking up the scholar's life. It is not a question of academic freedom, but of personal liberty from restraint, yet it touches the dignity of the academic career.

"That is an objection to restraint on freedom of speech from the standpoint of the teacher. There is another, not less weighty, from that of the institution itself. If a university or college censors what its professors say, if it restrains them from uttering something that it does not approve, it thereby assumes responsibility for that which it permits them to say.

"This is logical and inevitable, but it is a responsibility which an institution of learning would be very unwise in assuming.

"It is sometimes suggested that the principles are different in time of war; that the governing boards are then justified in restraining unpatriotic expressions injurious to the country.

"But the same problem is presented in wartime as in time of peace. If the university is right in restraining its professors, it has a duty to do so, and it is responsible for whatever it permits. There is no middle ground.

"Either the university assumes full responsibility for permitting its professors to express certain opinions in public, or it assumes no responsibility whatever, and leaves them to be dealt with like other citizens by the public authorities according to the laws of the land."

As Cerf Tells It

Lon Tinkle, whose book reviews have established him as one of the foremost critics in southwest, also gives occasional lectures at Southern Methodist university. He was speaking about Shakespeare one morning, and seeking to discover how much his students knew of the Bard's early writings, inquired, "Can anybody here tell me what Shakespeare did in his experimental period?" A pretty young co-ed answered promptly, "He married Anne Hathaway."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Advise Limited Test of Brannan Plan

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It isn't often that two men who have held the same cabinet job are summoned before the President to settle the question of whether one is supporting the other. However, that is what happened to ex-Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson and his successor, Secretary Charles Brannan. Both faced each other last week in front of Mr. Truman.

Anderson, once a pillar in the Truman cabinet, now an A-1 senator from New Mexico, slipped in the side door of the White House unnoticed to newsmen. Truman promptly challenged him regarding reports that he was blocking parts of the Brannan farm plan.

Anderson vigorously denied the charge; then, to convince the doubting President, he asked that Brannan himself be questioned.

So Truman picked up the phone and asked Brannan to hustle over to the White House. A few minutes later, all three sat down and ironed out their differences. The results of that talk will probably be felt on every farm in America.

Anderson denied that he wanted to extend the present, G. O.P.-written laws, insisted that he saw eye-to-eye with Brannan on the basic needs for new farm legislation. Except for a few technical points, Anderson showed that he was 99 per cent behind the Brannan plan. Brannan in turn told the President that his old friend and former boss was helping, not hampering, the plan in the senate.

* * *

Three-Crop Experiment.

ANDERSON warned, however, that the program might be too costly to adopt all at once.

Brannan agreed, said the best approach would be to take one commodity at a time. His plan would call for "production payments" to the farmers to maintain a minimum selling price. Then instead of having the government buy up the surplus as it does with potatoes and let them rot, Brannan would let the price drop and give the consumer the benefit. The "production payments" would make up the difference between what the farmer gets and what the housewife pays.

Brannan agreed to try out his plan on two or three commodities, and Anderson in return promised to push the program in the Senate. Immediately after this conference, word was passed to the House which then approved the Brannan plan for three commodities to be selected by the secretary of agriculture. The three have not been designated yet, but they will probably be potatoes, hogs and wool.

The Senate is still dragging its feet— but not through any fault of ex-Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, who is a member of the agriculture committee.

The truth is that Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, chairman of the committee, is sluggish about passing the bill. And the ranking Republican, Vermont's able Senator George Aiken, is holding it up by asking critical questions. He claims the Brannan plan is nothing but a revamped version of his own program, adopted by the 80th Congress, and he sees no reason for substituting.

400,000 U. S. Ambassadors.

THE live-wire American Automobile Association has launched a unique campaign to educate American tourists on how to be good-will ambassadors.

Last week this column published a suggestion to Undersecretary of State James Webb that the state department issue with each passport a reminder — as the Army did to G. I.'s landing in England during the war—that great good will can be accomplished by the careful American tourist while great ill will can be stirred up by the opposite type.

The American Automobile Association has now taken up this idea and is reminding its members that every tourist can be a diplomat. The average man-in-the-street in Europe never meets an American ambassador. He gets his ideas about the U. S. A. from a confusing hodgepodge of propaganda—some of it communist—or from the 400,000 Americans going abroad this summer.

The communists have been waging an astute campaign to sour world opinion on free-spending, loud-talking Americans. So that way to counteract that propaganda is by improved behavior on the part of those Americans.

To make every tourist a diplomat, the AAA has set up the following ten commandments of good travel manners:

1. Conform with the local customs.
2. Avoid bragging, loudness and arrogance.
3. Try to pick up at least a few words of the language. This is always flattering to the natives.
4. Learn something about the countries you will visit. You will get more out of your trip, and at the same time pay a compliment to the local people.
5. Don't flaunt your money. Throwing money around only offends the natives who don't earn as much as Americans.
6. Don't haggle. Excessive haggling may save a few cents, but it leaves bad feeling.
7. Be moderate. It is rare to find drunkenness outside of the United States in any but the lowest specimens.
8. Be friendly. Treat all people you meet with decency and courtesy.
9. Avoid arguments. Short of defending your honor, keep out of arguments and fights.
10. Be careful with women. This is for men only. What may seem to be innocuous pleasantries in America may be downright taboo in other lands.

Boiling down all this advice into one sentence, the AAA declares: "When abroad, you are a guest; act like one."

Note — Virtually all U. S. efforts to win over Europe so far are on the basis of government-to-government. Yet governments can change overnight. People don't. That is one reason why the roots of lasting friendship must be planted in people.

'It's Such a Lovely Day

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK — Monday, I love you. To some, you may be blue, but to me you are a great big beautiful day bathed in roseate light from dawn till dark.

And I do mean dawn. For at this unseemly hour — and anyone who wants it may have my share — we drag ourselves out of the sack at Wild Oat farm, the Robb acres hard by Flemington, N. J., dress groggily, gulp coffee and grope our way to the jalopy.

With any luck at all, we are soon speeding toward New York City and our respective offices where we can begin to rest up from the rigors of a joyous week-end spent in the country hewing wood, drawing water, pulling weeds, mowing lawn, washing dishes, fixing the roof and avoiding poison ivy.

Thousands upon thousands of New Yorkers lead a double life, and the price we pay would satisfy even the Rev. Davidson of "Rain." We are the city slickers with one foot on city pavements and another on a banana peel in the country.

This is a precarious stance at best. But it is a spread-eagle position voluntarily assumed by all week-end farmers, and our number is legion.

It doesn't take an FBI operative to ferret us out on Monday morning. We are drawn and shattered specimens who totter into our offices, sink gratefully at a desk piled no matter how high with work and mutter, "thank God, five more days till Saturday."

People are the cwaziest monkeys. Most New Yorkers are reformed hay-shakers, like myself, who on reaching the age of reason fled what seemed in our youthful eyes the dubious delights of rural life as if the devil were after us.

* * *

The Urge To Return.

AT SOME point in his life, the average New Yorker decided that milking cows, cultivating the good earth,' churning butter, gathering the eggs and cooking for harvest hands was for squares who didn't have the ambition to thumb a ride to the nearest railroad crossing.

But we no sooner get to New York and learn, at considerable cost of time and clams, to pass ourselves off as urban characters than we buy a piggy bank to stach away pennies for a quiet little place in the country where we can get away from it all.

Such a little hideaway never costs more than two right arms or its upkeep less than that of the Petite Trianon. But by the time we are ready to buy, our memories of the horrors of country life have faded, and we are meat for the first realtor with a cottage small by a water fall.

Too late we learn that there is no rest for the wicked or the week-end agriculturist. From Friday night to Monday morning. I get away from it all, sure 'nuf.

But what do I get away from? From all that nice city airconditioning, from an office where all I have to do is play the typewriter and an apartment where I only have to give the orders.

And, what have I goten into on the week-ends? Honey, I got dishpan hands right up to the second joint. I got calluses from walloping pots, pans, brooms and recalcitrant stoves. And O! My achin' back! That weeding will be the death of me yet.

No one has ever yet been able to solve the psychic trauma of the week-end farmer: Does he work like a dog in town all week in order to be able to afford the luxury of working like a horse in the country on Saturday and Sunday? Or does he work like a horse on week-ends so he can get away from the country for what is, by comparison, a nice long rest in town from Monday through Friday?

Or are we intellectually kin to the man who keeps hitting himself on the head with a hammer because it feels so good when he stops?

Farmer's Diary

Hoosier Orchardists

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I GUESS the Hoosier orchardists of northeast Indiana are typical of similarly situated farmers everywhere. They are in business to make a living for themselves and to furnish the best possible food for people everywhere.

The United States needs more orchards because there is not enough fruit grown at present to finish an adequate ration for all our people — although if distribution were improved, and all waste eliminated, we should be better off.

The meeting of orchard men from four counties, near Kendallville, Indiana, one day last week, represented, roughly, 100,000 bushels of fruit.

The program consisted of two speakers, the first V. V. Clark, a Purdue-trained orchard specialist and extension man who manages a commercial orchard near Bristol; the second, a big-eyed, big-eared pencil pusher from Bellville, Ohio, whose chief claim is that he can think of questions faster than he can find the answers.

Together, I thought, they presented very well the current condition of things upon the general farm front. The first man, fluent, well traveled, experienced in telling what farmers should do, and how, talked interestingly about the things fruit growers need.

He said they needed, locally, another specialist whom they might consult about pests, bugs, ailments, when to dust and what dusts to use. Personally, he had a power-duster that was wonderful, but he didn't do "custom" dusting — though he confessed he "cussed 'em" if he had to breathe the stuff!

He spoke to the brush cutter (mentioned here, recently) that will chip the prunings of an orchard and lay the chips as mulch around the trees; he spoke of new scientific discoveries such as hormone sprays, and said that orchardists need more research, to help them preserve their crop; more storages; more attention to drouth control, lest the land go back to desert.

The second speaker told about the fruit that grew, unsprayed, in his grandfather's orchard. He wondered, if we should rebuild the soil to its virgin fertility, whether orchards could not still be unsprayed and give perfect fruit!

He challenged the orchard men to pay attention to their soil, as the basis of all perfect growth and suggested that they request their specialists and extension men to experiment more widely along building-up lines, rather than upon destruction.

"Let everything live," he said. "Every living thing has a useful purpose, or it would not have survived thus far. The whole trouble is, we have not yet found out what the rightful use of many things should be."

After the meeting, little groups of men lingered, talking, comparing, visiting. Orchardists are among our highest type of farmers. They like to think!

Putting Children In Jail.

Editor News-Journal:

Are our children important? Aren't they the future generation of our city? Isn't it our duty as mothers and fathers to see that they get the very best? Not just your child and my child but ALL children.

Isn't it a ghastly thought that a small boy or girl has to be put in a jail with hardened criminals, simply because he or she has committed some minor offense, and has to await a hearing until something further can be done about it—why is such a thing permitted?

We as citizens of Mansfield and Richland county should hang our heads in shame. Wake up, people, remember we are raising a future generation.

MISS PATRICIA METCALF WED TO JAMES REGULA

Formal Open Church Ceremony Unites In Marriage Former Mansfield Girl and Local Man.

BEFORE AN ALTAR beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, two large beauty baskets of gladioli, delphinium and larkspur, and vases of the same flowers, Miss Patricia Ann Metcalf became the bride of James Richard Regula Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the First Methodist church. The Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner officiated for the formal single ring ceremony. Two seven-branch candelabra with tall white tapers illuminated the scene.

Miss Metcalf is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Metcalf, Benedict Lane, Butler, Ohio, and Mr. Regula is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Regula, 185 Carpenter road.

Mrs. Willis Naas presided at the organ for the half hour recital of nuptial music preceding the ceremony. Miss Betty Gorsuch was soloist.

The bride, who was accompanied to the altar by her father and given in marriage by him, wore a gown of sheer starched chiffon. Rows and rows of little ruffles which were placed horizontally formed the entire skirt which was very full. The skirt extended in a long train. A full ruffle of matching material edged the sheer yoke which came to points in the front, back and over the shoulders. The sleeves, long and tight fitting, had little ruffles over the hands. They were fastened by tiny self covered buttons.

A lovely poke bonnet of imported Belgium lace held the full fingertip silk illusion veil in place. Narrow ribbons tied under the chin.

Miss Metcalf carried a bridal bouquet of gardenias, lilies of the valley and stephanotis.

Mrs. Martha Poole, of Butler, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, and Miss Sandra Jean Metcalf, also a sister from Butler, was junior bridesmaid. They were attired in like styled gowns of starched marquisette. The matron of honor was in lilac and the junior bridesmaid in yellow. The dresses were made with a slightly off-the-shoulder effect which was edged in a double ruffle. Two ruffles were placed in the skirt to form a pinafore effect. These ruffles were tied in the back in a large bow. Both wore matching little open crown hats in the same colors as their gowns. A flower trim was used on the hats.

The attendants carried bouquets of purple asters and yellow roses.

Mrs. Metcalf chose a navy blue chiffon street length dress with light chartreuse and navy accessories for her daughter's wedding. A corsage of green cymbidium orchids completed her ensemble. Mrs. Regula was attired in a navy blue sheer dress with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of Fleur deMour and gypsophelia.

Robert O. Regula, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Guests were escorted to their pews by Louis Snavely and Raymond Eisaman, close friends of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for 125 guests was held in the club rooms of the Mansfield Leland hotel. The reception tables were decorated with adiantum green and gardenias around the cake. An arrangement of pinochio roses and maidenhair topped the tiered cake. A pink and white larkspur centerpiece decorated the punch table. A drape of cultivated smilax was placed on the linen of both tables.

For traveling to Pococabana lodge in eastern Pennsylvania, Mrs. Regula wore a dusty rose rayon gabardine suit with white accessories and a white cattleya hybrid orchid.

After July 5 the couple will be at home at 176 Sturges avenue.

Mrs. Regula graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, attended Kansas University and spent one year at the Vogue School of Art in Chicago. She also attended Ohio Wesleyan University. She is employed in the display department at the M. O'Neil company.

Mr. Regula, also a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, attended Murray state college, Kentucky and Ashland college. He is an employe of the Gorman-Rupp company.

Miss Peggy Ehalt Honored With Pre-Nuptial Showers

MISS MARGARET ANN EHALT, bride-elect of Richard Carl Imhoff, has been honored during the past week with pre-nuptial showers given by her friends.

On Saturday evening Miss Lois Hershey, 66 Hoffman avenue, complimented Miss Ehalt with a linen shower. One out-of-town guest, Mrs. J. W. Daugherty of Pittsburgh, aunt of the honoree, was present.

Three tables of bridge were in play. When the scores were tallied, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Roscoe Imhoff and Miss Betty Timmons, who in turn presented them to the honoree.

Dishes centered with tall candles and four small candles were placed on the tables for the dessert luncheon. Among the tapers floated daisies.

Miss Hershey presented each guest present with a daisy corsage.

Mrs. Thomas L. Kenny, 170 Westwood avenue, and Mrs. John J. Eichinger, an attendant in the coming wedding, feted Miss Ehalt with a miscellaneous shower June 23.

The guests spent a social evening playing cards. High score prizes at the three tables were awarded to Miss Mary Bricker, Miss Carole Bunsey and Miss Mary J. Sherrard, who presented them to Miss Ehalt.

The appointments throughout the house and for the luncheon, served at the card tables later in the evening, were in delicate shades of green and yellow. The tables centered with a rose bowl in which a lighted green taper stood surrounded by floating yellow daisies.

During the luncheon the honoree was called to the door to sign for a registered package. When she read her delivery receipt, she discovered that her signature had been placed on a copy of the wedding vows. Individually wrapped gifts from the guests and hostesses were placed in the large gift wrapped box which Miss Ehalt had received. The honoree was given a gift of linen from the hostesses.

Miss Ehalt and Mr. Imhoff will exchange nuptial vows Saturday, July 2, at 10:30 o'clock in St. Peter's Catholic church.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word When Applied to the Body

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulgy person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Never take any treatment for a gland condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which means cut down on the food intake and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress. But as mentioned above, you can't keep this up very long and when you quit—back comes the fat.

An exhaustive survey recently made among Ohio druggists showed one outstanding reducing aid is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It allows you to eat plenty. You eat all you want but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you from eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates.

Over a quarter million bottles of this preparation, called Rennel Concentrate have been sold in Ohio in the past 1½ years.

You can get a four-ounce bottle of Rennel from any Ohio druggist. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take just two tablespoonsful twice a day.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose that ugly fat, the makers agree to refund your money. —Adv.

Buyer Now Controlling Steel Mart

Supply, Demand Balance Looming

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The buyer is calling the tune in the current steel market as sellers hustle to drum up business to bolster declining steelmaking operations, the Magazine Steel said today.

The opening of the third quarter will find that "the long-hoped-for balance between supply and demand in the steel markets will be a fact," Steel said.

"Even in those few products that are still in somewhat tight supply, balance is expected to be struck before end of the summer," the review added.

Since mid-March the national ingot rate has fallen 17 points—equivalent to nearly 17 million tons on an annual production basis, steel reported.

Last week it dropped another two points to 84.5 per cent of capacity. Cincinnati district had the biggest drop — six points to 91 per cent — while the St. Louis district rate pushed up 1½ points to 82 per cent.

Scrap prices continued to decline. Last week's $20.17 a ton composite for steelmaking scrap was the lowest since November, 1946, when OPA ceilings still were in effect.

In the preceding week scrap stood at $21.25, and a year ago it was $40.27 a ton.

Semi - finished steel also fell last week. It was down to $63.12 from $66.72 the preceding week and $68.62 a year ago.

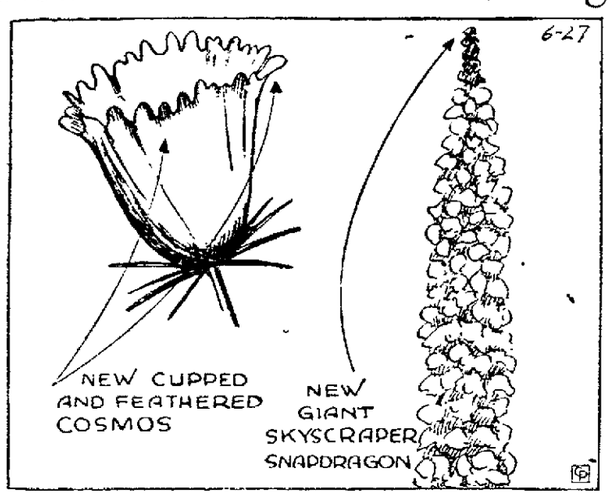
Today's Garden Graph

New Annuals Worth Knowing



By DEAN HALLIDAY

The horticultural wizards keep everlastingly at it with the result that among other novelties there are two new annuals whose acquaintance you will want to make.

They are a cupped and feathered cosmos and a giant skyscraper snapdragon. Both are shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

The new cosmos is a garden novelty of the first order for it is an almost complete breakaway from older varieties of the same flower. Its blooms vary in form: some develop deep cups, some shallow ones, but all have lacinated edges, while a few have "feathers" that dart out from the centers of the flowers.

No two flowers of this new cosmos will be exactly alike. Most of the flowers will be a soft pink, but a few may be white. It is an intriguing newcomer, for an individual plant may throw blooms of distinctly varying form. The plants grow about four feet high.

Eight years of breeding, selection and reselection have produced "Giant Skyscraper," the tallest growing of all snapdragons. The plants are base branching, with from 3 to 7 strong stems arising from the main stem close to the ground. The central spike grows three feet and more tall followed by the lateral stems of the same or nearly the same height.

The spikes of this new snapdragon are very symmetrical, half or more than half the height of the entire plant is covered with flowers and buds, as illustrated.

Skyscraper snapdragons come in soft shades of color, including sulphur-yellow, primrose-yellow, canary yellow, sulphur-yellow, flushed pink, golden yellow with rose tube, apple-blossom pink, light rose-pink, creamy white, rosy bronze or a delicate lavender.
